All the 1918 bronze timepieces use the historic Montblanc emblem on the dial - not only, with the occasion itself, following the same Montblanc era two.

MONTBLANC AND THE USA
The USA is a very important market for Montblanc, and there was a major expansion of Montblanc into the USA market in the early 1950s. The collection are well suited to the tastes of America's watch aficionados. "The USA market is definitely very sophisticated and very mature," says Tobias Grottel, president and CEO of Montblanc Meisterstück. "Montblanc has a strong and long heritage, and our story with America and the 1918 collection has all the ingredients necessary, and it is a great value proposition."

"For me, the 1918 is a fortunate illustration of what Montblanc offers today," he continues. "The 1918 unites the Meisterstück tradition and a vintage look, with contemporary values. The latest collection is a masterpiece in the 1918 with something to the design for innovation and heritage."
"Several companies have used bronze in recent years, but Montblanc is the company that has the true heritage... with Meisterstück, it is one and the same, the material makes. For Montblanc, bronze is not a generic but a nod to its history and the history of the Meisterstück Manufacture."
- Tobias Grottel, Montblanc's President

THE 1858 BRONZE
 The 1858 collection is inspired by the legendary status of Montblanc as one of Switzerland's watchmaking specialists. With this collection, Montblanc revives the spirit of the legendary watch he Montblanc has been creating since 1858—and gives them a new, contemporary expression with a vintage feel and look.

“These new 1858 pieces come directly from the historic DNA of our Montblanc chronograph—they are 1920s watches reincarnated,” Lambert says. “These new introductions were a natural way to bring them back to life. The 1858 collection is a beautiful, strong expression of the past, and it is getting a lot of attention all around the world. The use of different materials is a way to give us the opportunity to surprise. The first introductions were in steel, which was very close to the original watches, but now we see bronze which is a second step.”

The historical design codes taken from the original 1920s Montblanc chronograph include large, cathedral hands, with their flared ends, dial with large Super-LumiNova™, luminescent Arabic numerals, vintage-shaped crowns and classic minute railway tracks that encircle the dial. Also, the watches use the original Montblanc emblem from the 1920s era with its historical first and the Montblanc Meisterstück in the center. The watches come on new cognac-colored calfskin or alligator straps that have been given an aged look by the artisans at the Montblanc Meisterstück in Germany, Italy.
