All the 1928 bronze timepieces use the historic Montblanc emblem on the dial - not only, with the occasion itself, adding the same Montblanc star two.

MONTBLANC AND THE USA
The USA is a very important market for Montblanc, and there are many reasons for this. The 1928 collection are well suited to the tastes of American watch aficionados. "The US market is definitely very sophisticated and very mature," says Tobias Grottel, president and CEO of Montblanc Meisterstück. "Montblanc has a strong and long heritage, and our story with history and the 1928 collection has all the ingredients necessary, and it is a great value proposition."

"For me, the 1928 is a fortunate illustration of what Montblanc offers today," he continues. "The 1928 embodies the Meisterstück tradition and a strong link with American watchmakers. The largest collection is a masterpiece in the US with something to the demand for innovation and heritage."
"Several companies have used bronze in recent years, but Montblanc is the company that has the true heritage... with Meisterstück, it is one and the same material today. For Montblanc, history is not a gimmick but a part of its nature and the history of the Meisterstück Manufacture."

THE 1858 BRONZE
 The 1858 collection is inspired by the legendary status of Montblanc as one of Switzerland's watchmaking specialists. With this collection, Montblanc revives the spirit of the legendary watch he Montblanc has been creating since 1858—and gives them a new, contemporary expression with a vintage feel and look.
 "These new 1858 pieces come directly from the historic DNA of our Montblanc chronograph—they are 1920s watches reincarnated," Lambert says. "These new introductions were a natural way to bring them back to life. The 1858 collection is a beautiful, strong expression of the past, and it is getting a lot of attention all around the world. The use of different materials is a way to give us the opportunity to surprise. The first introductions were in steel, which was very close to the original watches, but now we see bronze which is a second step.
 The historical design codes taken from the original 1920s Montblanc chronograph include large, cathedral hands, with their flared ends, dial with large Super-LumiNova™, luminescent Arabic numerals, vintage-shaped crowns and classic minute railway tracks that encircle the dial. Also, the watches use the original Montblanc emblem from the 1920s era with its historical first and the Montblanc Meisterstück in the center. The watches come on new cognac-colored calfskin or alligator straps that have been given an aged look by the artisans at the Montblanc Meisterstück in Germany, Italy.

Montblanc 1858 chronograph that has a 1858 design and uses a bronze dial design. Case and crown are in steel.

With a vintage feel, Montblanc 1858 is a watch that has a strong, vintage look and a strong design.
